INTRODUCTION

Today our Republic is under siege by those of a different spirit. We have been lied to by corrupt politicians, socialists, too big to fail bankers, Wall Street fat-cats and others that hate our country, culture, U.S. Constitution, liberty, free market capitalism, family, and, most of all, our God. These lying supplanters desire a new America, one of their own making and will stop at nothing until the America framed by our Founding Fathers is completely destroyed.

Without Christ, none can be free. And without His overcoming word, the chains of tyranny cannot be broken. Christ is our source and we should never look to men as the staff of our hope. French historian Alexis de Tocqueville discovered the greatness of America:

In the end, the state of the Union comes down to the character of the people.... I sought for the greatness and genius of America in her commodious harbors, her ample rivers, and it was not there. I sought for it in the fertile fields, and boundless prairies, and it was not there. I sought it in her rich mines, and vast world commerce, and it was not there. Not until I went into the churches of America and heard her pulpits aflame with righteousness did I understand the secret of her genius and power.

Saboteurs in the Republic

The greatness that Tocqueville discovered has its source in the greatest reformer of all time, Jesus, King of kings and Lord of lords. It's time to rekindle Americas secret again.

Christ has called all his disciples to carry a reforming spirit. Together we can accomplish this.

CREATING A NEW AMERICA

Dark forces are creating a new America. It's an America very different than our founding fathers dreamed and penned. It's an America governed by another spirit. Some think of a coming revolution but could it be the revolution has already taken place? Could it be possible that we are at the conclusion of the revolution and the end of the American Republic we so love? Can we dare think the inconceivable? Are we about to see the unveiling of a new America?

To understand the wickedness of this revolution is to understand the bondage of God's people in Egypt. Scripture declares:

Saboteurs in the Republic

And the Lord said, I have surely seen the affliction of my people which are in Egypt and have heard their cry by reason of their taskmasters; for I know their sorrows; And I am come down to deliver them out of the hand of the Egyptians, (Exodus 3:7-8)

This depicts a great deliverance offered by Jehovah for His people. It paints a picture of God's people once free now in slavery, involuntary servitude, economic bondage, hopelessness and despair. It reveals a people subjugated by force to a government ruled by a wicked Pharaoh whose will was carried out by rules and decrees.

Pharaoh's law usurped the place of Jehovah's word. The bondage that Pharaoh enslaved God's people was not through force dear friend. No, the people of God were not war slaves but subjects of an evil government through a "systematic and progressive" undermining of personal freedom, liberty and wealth destruction through debt.

Notice the words affliction, taskmasters and sorrows. Affliction, the process of enslavement. Taskmasters, agents of Pharaoh's government.

Creating a New America

Sorrows, brought about because of the inability to follow ones individual destiny. Observe also the source of the bondage. It was economic and governmental intrusion, and, because of this, they could not activate God's covenant blessing in their lives that said, "Be fruitful, multiply, increase, subdue and take dominion."

When you are in bondage, you cannot fulfill your destiny. God's promise was made void in this generation because of an evil government directed by a wicked despot. His challenge was how to rule God's people. The answer was financial enslavement, debt servitude and Statism. Statism is a fascist concept that renounces individualism and exalts the nation as an organic body headed by a supreme leader. Statism says that man's life and work belong to the State. Pharaoh was the supreme ruler of a Statist nation.

Thousands of sermons have been preached about God delivering His people from the hands of a fascist tyrant; yet little is said about the origins of their bondage. I suggest to the reader that their "bondage was progressive" and didn't happen overnight. Bit by bit their liberties were lost until finally, complete and utter slavery.

Pharaoh was the God of Egypt and as supreme ruler to him only sourced the rule of law. The sword and the purse were in his hands alone. Like his fellow Egyptians, however, his heart was deceitful and wicked. Without the laws of Jehovah to guide him, he would rule from a reprobate mind and the carnal wisdom of the world and his advisors.

Over time the people of God realized they were trapped. They were no longer free men
but indebted slaves with no hope of liberty.

His captives were a religious bunch. Some were good citizens who just wanted to have the freedom to enjoy a good meal or the presence of friends and family. Others looked to the bankers of Egypt and still others to Pharaoh's supreme wisdom, guidance, and protection. They had forgotten the mandates of God and embraced the wisdom of the world.

Creating a New America

Some, however, continued to worship Jehovah God. That didn't bother Pharaoh or his court. They could worship as they wanted as long as they did so privately. Pharaohs only concern was his world, a world free from the laws of God or anyone else's for that matter. He offered an illusion of freedom to his citizens at first; but as time passed the class society became visible to all. The have-nots were the real slaves, slaves to the masters of Pharaoh's court. Surely Pharaoh offered freedom, hope and change; but in the end the people got nothing. They were only a means to an end. Think of it, a once free people now captive within a kingdom ruled by an autocrat who denied the Most High Jehovah. This rings true today. God's people, a people riveted on the rapture of the Church who refuse to take their Christianity into a dark world but rather withdraw themselves, now content to be ruled over by reprobate God haters.

Over time the people of God realized they were trapped. They were no longer free men but indebted slaves with no hope of liberty. Their only real hope for change was prayer for God's deliverance. And yes God heard their cry and came down to deliver them. And deliver them he did. It was a mighty deliverance out of the house of economic bondage, a totalitarian government and wicked taskmasters and an entrance into the Promised Land, a place of plenty, equal opportunity, and a future.

From the Promised Land, we Christians have a rich history of God's word to draw on. In fact His Word has ordered and settled our lives, the Church, His Kingdom and our nation. Throughout history it has laid the foundations for biblical guidance, the laws of society and principles of liberty with self-discipline, personal responsibility, hard work and thrift. From Him we have learned the importance of virtue, labor, faith, diligence, fortitude, character, value of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. We have learned that Jehovah is God—and Him only shall you serve.

Today the people of God face another Pharaoh and his wicked taskmasters. Throughout history his face continues to change but his wicked spirit remains the same. His want is to rule the world and enslave the people once again. Only this time he tells the people it is for the "common good." This beast is more subtle than ever. He works within the known instruments of government. He has read the Constitution. He knows the workings of democracy. He understands the principles of American government and division of powers. To him, however, they are only instruments he can use to advance his serpentine agenda. He knows that ancient laws can remain as long as governing power remains in his hands. No, he doesn't attack the ancient boundaries directly. He doesn't need to. That would be too dangerous and costly to his hidden agenda. He simply redefines their meanings.

He understands those ancient boundaries and landmarks once used to guide the American Republic give a sense of stability so he shadows them, regulates them and changes the definitions of their purpose. Like muddy water, he obscures their original purpose and replaces the muddy waters with another drink, the drink of socialism,

Saboteurs in the Republic

Marxism, and fascism. Again, like a shadow he imposes his interpretation and redefines the old landmarks.

To the so-called elites, freedom is what they say it is and personal liberties granted only by their benevolence.

He tells the people to trust the government. That he is the one well able to plan a perfect society, to be the paternal provider of a people not able to help themselves. He says that capitalism is dead, deficits don't matter, we need more "stimulus," banker bailouts, and the economic guidance of John Maynard Keynes. To him lies the ability to plan equality among men, wealth gained by the working man and rightfully redistributed by him in equitable fashion. Each week he takes more and more out of our pay envelopes but insists that individuality is harmful and conformity and submission to a central planner is our moral duty. To him provision for widows, orphans, the sick and disabled will be on his shoulders and the old and indigent need not worry. In short, faith in Christ is not necessary and religion is nothing more than the opiate of the people. So instead of private freedom, we citizens of the new America must use our faith, and trust government to administer freedom. To the so-called elites, freedom is what they say it is and personal liberties granted only by their benevolence.

I suggest dear reader that the spirit of Pharaoh lives on and is dismantling the Republic bit by bit. His hardened will violates the very fabric of our Judeo and Christian society because he believes that he must have the freedom to violate our U.S. Constitutional rights for our own good. Once it was known as “We the People” and now that ancient landmark means nothing to him, for he alone knows best. This is why many Washington politicians refuse to listen to its citizens. The “disconnect” from us regular Joe-the-plumbers is real. And the saying “no you don’t get it” is true because they don’t have to get it. To them citizens are only drones, bees without stingers only needed to cast the winning votes that end the contest, fill the revolution's coffers and banish a once proud Lady Liberty. Perhaps you remember hearing words like this after an election, "I won."

To them politics was a contest to be won, not a calling to help your fellow man.

It has been said the antichrist Marxist "never waste a crisis." That's because every crisis helps build the empire, an empire that destroys our nation's moral virtues, creates dependent tax surfs, economic slaves and "nudges" us toward Statism. His doctrine of a planned economy unfolds itself daily. He is calculating and manipulates America's citizens to subservience through rules, regulations, fines and fees of his own making conjured up behind closed doors in darkened rooms. He chooses his advisors carefully for they must carry the same spirit as he: cunning, crafty and radical.

REVOLUTION WITHOUT CHALLENGE

A great seduction has taken place in the

Creating a New America

American republic. We have experienced a revolution without challenge.

A revolution through seduction and malice that has tranquilized our Christian America, dumbing down our school children, and changing the fabric of a once free enterprising people with a dream of a better tomorrow gained through hard work, thrift and wise investment into a beguiling of socialistic entitlements offered by the paternalism of a Washington D.C. government.

This unchallenged revolution has changed the relationship between government and people. Once upon a time "government was the responsibility of the people" yet now it has morphed into "people are the responsibility of government." "How did it happen?" you ask. It happened by evil design and the apathy of the American people. It was orchestrated by those of a different spirit, having the form of patriots and yet very un-American. To them politics was a contest to be won, not a calling to help your fellow man. It happened by those who saw the God of the Bible as a fairy tale for weak minds. It happened by those who thought of themselves as masters of the universe, the narcissistic and more able, yes well able to create the utopian society filled with enlightened men who too are led by the supreme ones.

While the Church withdrew herself from the world as salt and light, became lukewarm and apathetic, morality became irrelevant and purpose forgotten. Families fell apart, marriage was redefined, and children lost in all the drama. Freedom now meant a government free to govern man without restraint. Monitoring was more the necessary with cameras at every traffic light intersection, satellite tracking technology, city code enforcement officers inspecting every man's castle. Then came more permits, fees and license requirements for almost everything once free to every man to pay for the surveillance. All this became the means to reach the goal of a totalitarian government, the new America.

Some voted for change—and change they got. Where the Word of God once offered solutions to the wise, the enlightened agents of government saw more clearly. They saw a world where freedom once meant "freedom from the impulsions and compulsions of government" now changed to mean "freedom from any form of citizen self-government, responsibility and forward thinking" Even individuality was spoken evil of. What mattered was the man who served the State. The man that worked for the "common good." The man that paid his "fair share." The man that viewed paying taxes as his "patriotic duty."

In the genesis of the 21st century, the definition of freedom was lost in a sea of other words that meant freedom for people to look to the government as savior, not toward the God of the Bible or an outdated musty old document called the United States Constitution. No, freedom was usurped little by little from individual governing to servitude imposed by a wicked oligarchy of godless intellectuals, reprobate socialists, corrupt politicians, voracious banksters and anti-Christ Marxists hell bent on ushering in a new America.

As already said, could it be possible that we are at the conclusion of the revolution and the end of the American Republic? Are we staring at a new America? Or, has the sleeping giant that carries the same spirit as our founding fathers decided to awaken from her slumber? Can we redeem our great nation? And if so, how can it be carried out?

Part of the answer will be found in our resolve:

1. To remove the shackles,
2. To see through the deception,
3. To avoid the seduction of Statism,
4. To see the hagfish that has latched itself on our American principles of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.
5. And, dear brother, to get back to God. It is He that offers us the light we need to find our way.

Shall “we the people” determine to throw off the oppressor while it is still day and insist we return to our roots as “one nation under God” governed by the U.S. Constitution? I say, let's do it. By the grace of God, we shall.

Creating a New America

REGAINING THE HIGH PLACES

The seats of governing authority, the high places, have been the scene of many battles throughout biblical history. Such was the case in Gideon's day. Gideon knew of Israel's mighty deliverance from the evil bondages of Pharaoh in Egypt. Unfortunately, that historic liberty from economic slavery and demonic government was progressively polluted and the greatness of Jehovah had drifted from the national persona.

Those in Gideon's generation were plundered by Midianites and Amalekites that invaded their lands yearly stealing their crops and "destroying their increase." As Gideon sat pondering his nation's fate in the light of God's promises, he had an encounter with the angel of the Lord. During that meeting the Lord called Gideon "a mighty man of valor." This experience brought an awakening in the spirit of Gideon and he saw that apathetic equanimity was not enough—something could be done to free his nation from demonic marauders and restore it back to prominence.

Christians are inspired by this testimony of Gideon; but one must ask how his nation drifted so far from the God of their deliverance? Could it be possible that there was a fifth column within the country that slowly weakened the biblical fabric of their nation? Did the "rulers of the darkness of this world" seize the high places of Israel? Today we could refer to those same high places as the "commanding heights" of governing authority over our nation. Because those are places of governing authority, they are highly sought after by the enemy who wants to create a new America, one free from the God of their founding fathers.

Creating a new America requires occupying

Regaining the High Places

High places warfare continues today and is a strategy used for years in a hateful attempt to destroy the Republic and create a new America.

the commanding heights.

Occupying the heights overlooking the battlefield was vital to winning the war when cannons were the main arms in warfare. As a military strategy these high places offered an advantage over the enemy. The Apostle Paul spoke of spiritual warfare against principalities, powers, the rulers of the darkness of this world and spiritual wickedness in high places. Historically these high places are the most coveted in the political battle theater that rages over nations. High places warfare continues today and is a strategy used for years in a hateful attempt to destroy the Republic and create a new America.

Throughout history there have been wars for governing authority. Jesus declared there would be wars and rumors of wars until the return of the Prince of Peace Himself. History is full of bloody war-lusts by tyrants that butchered their way into supreme power by utter brutality. These include Lenin, Stalin, Hitler and Mao. As time passed warfare became all the more costly. And more diplomatic deceptions through cunning craftiness became all the more compelling. After all, bloodshed remained best as a last resort.

The goal of conquest is always total control of both the social and economic life of the nation by those masters of the universe known as the “progressive elites.” These self-proclaimed enlightened intellectuals have appeared at various times in history hiding behind slogans, flags and patriotic banners that cloaked their true agendas. To these revolutionaries, it was important not to destroy the “means of production” at the first for then there would be no spoils available to advance their cause. Deceit, cunning and infiltration were in high demand by the progressives.

To these, like all other conquistadors since antiquity, was the question, “How to occupy the high places?”

Regaining the High Places

COMMANDING HEIGHTS

All nations are governed from the high places. Every anti-Republic Communist, Socialist, Marxist, and Fascist knows he doesn't have to win every seat of government to seize the nation, just the "commanding heights." If a new America was to be created, then the liberty-haters had to gain seats of governing authority.

Vladimir Lenin used the phrase "commanding heights" to refer to the segments and industries in an economy that effectively control and support the others. The commanding heights are seats of authority that rule over major parts of society and the economy. Those places are media, education, banking, energy and politics, to name a few. Other seats include religion, arts and entertainment. These can be controlled by the others, for example, through various means such as regulations, taxation, zoning and permitting requirements.

How to seize the commanding heights in 21st century America? Should it be carried out by sword or ballot? In the old American republic, the anti-American revolutionary had no choice. If a new America was to be forged, the high places had to be governed by the so-called enlightened ones. For a new America to be shaped, it had to be seduced progressively by the Marxist' deceptive elixir of the utopian society, it had to be done without bloodshed, and it had to be carried out by ballot.

To ignore the war against our Republic would be a great ignominy to those that shed their blood for the liberties that we take for granted
today.

It was Sir Thomas More that first coined the term "utopian society" in 1516. His book Utopia was based largely on Plato's Republic. In the essay, More describes a fictional island community in the Atlantic Ocean. It was a perfect version of society where all evils such as poverty, misery and social injustice were banished.

To the new American revolutionary, the utopian idea is intoxicating and a useful tool for promoting conquest. The old American traditions of God, Church, family, morality, free market capitalism—and especially a government framed by the United States Constitution—had to be neutralized.

To the Christian, the high places belong to the Church of Jesus Christ. To govern in the high places requires a people that understand their responsibility as "ambassadors of Christ"—a governing term. When the people of God refuse to sit in the seats of governing, engage the spiritual warfare for the souls of men, establish and advance the Kingdom of God throughout the nations; then those seats of governing authority and the commanding heights are easily chaired by God-haters, reprobates and dark princes.

As Christians, we must be able to recognize the spiritual warfare over our country. To ignore the war against our Republic would be a great ignominy to those that shed their blood for the liberties that we take for granted today.

EXPOSING UTOPIA

Will socialism destroy the America we have all known? We have heard much about the rise of socialism in our nation. Does socialism affect you? Will it affect your life, family, children, work, or future? What is socialism? Is socialism an evil thing? Does socialism affect the Church? Should Christians be concerned?

The short definition of socialism is this: Socialism is a political theory that advocates government ownership of industry or, said another way, government ownership in the means of production. In the beginning of the 21st century we have experienced an unprecedented shift from a free market economy (private ownership in the means of production) to a massive buildup of Federal Government ownership in business, particularly the banking, insurance and mortgage industries. This ownership and control in businesses by the Federal Government is also known as fascism.

Let me give you a few examples of the increase in the size of the United States Federal Government. The American government has increased in size by some estimates a whopping 40 percent and continues to grow no matter the political party. The government has now created, purchased, owns or controls:

- Federal Emergency Management Agency, or FEMA, an agency of the U. S. Department of Homeland Security, employing more than 200,000 employees.
- Transportation Security Administration, or TSA, employing more than 45,000 airport police, security and baggage screener employees.
- American International Group, Inc., or AIG, a major insurance corporation. The cost to U. S. taxpayers for the purchase and bailout was over $122 billion and counting.

Exposing Utopia

- Federal Housing Finance Agency, or FHFA, a newly-minted regulatory agency over Freddie Mac and Fanny Mae. The cost for purchase and bailout to the U.S. taxpayers was over $200 billion and counting.
- Banker “Rescue Plan,” HEIST. The cost to the U.S. taxpayers $700 billion, plus $150 billion in political pork.

In total, the U.S. Federal Government now employs more than 14 million workers, not including state government employees. The government also controls a large part of the means of production. The tipping point toward more fascism and a socialistic America has been in the works for many years and is ever increasing.

Free market capitalism is the antithesis of big government ownership and direct involvement in business. It is an economic system based on private property and business ownership of the means of production. This free market capitalistic system gives opportunity for every average citizen to achieve the American dream of life, liberty and property ownership. The fundamental spirit of capitalism, however, has been assailed in Washington—moving us dangerously close to a form of government that is contrary to the U. S. Constitution and the spirit of free market capitalism.

This free market capitalistic system gives opportunity for every average citizen to achieve the American dream of life, liberty and property ownership.

This alone is dangerous. None of this reveals, however, the political theory of socialism that undermines our republic. It is socialistic ideology that is dangerous to the Church of Christ and our liberty as American citizens. So let's examine some of the socialist thinking points of the utopian revolutionaries. By understanding their ideology, we get a better idea of the direction our nation is heading.

Exposing Utopia

THE UTOPIAN MAN

The secular socialists believe in the utopian man, the masters of the universe. Utopian man is the perfected man, or the god-man. Educated from childhood to believe in the evolution of man from savage beast to enlightened being, socialists believe in the social engineering of the humanistic god-man.

Much of modern socialistic and fascist ideology has its roots in the French, German and Russian Revolutions. Nicholas Bonneville (1700-1828), for example, was an atheist and revolutionary journalist during the French Revolution. He believed it was vital to rally intellectuals to lead mankind. These intellectuals, said Bonneville, would be the "legislators of the universe" and the protectors of the people. According to Bonneville, "Man is God" and will "one day become angelic." This is the same lie that Satan used to deceive Eve:

For God doth know that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil.

Saboteurs in the Republic

(Genesis 3:5)

STATE AS SOURCE

The socialist revolutionary also looks to the State, in our case the Federal Government, rather than God as its source for education, food, labor and leadership. Philippe Buonarroti (1761-1837), another father of socialistic ideology during the French Revolution, said,

Let the Republic be the sole proprietor; like a mother, it will afford to each of its members equal education, food and labor.

Buonarroti was a utopian (perfect man) socialist revolutionary. As a freemason, he was an active supporter of the French revolution and believed that the state (republic) should take a paternal role in the affairs of man. He also promoted breaking down all "marks of private property" ownership. You will understand why in a moment.

To promote the State as one's source is a direct

Exposing Utopia

violation of Scripture that declares:

But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus. (Philippians 4:19)

and:

I am the Lord thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. Thou shalt have no other gods before me. (Exodus 20:2-3)

To look to Christ for direction, truth and life is a direct violation of the socialistic ideology of the utopian man.

ELIMINATION OF PRIVATE PROPERTY OWNERSHIP

Socialists view private property ownership as the root of all evil. Thomas Hobbes (1588-1679)—another secular thinker whose views are still popular in our universities—went as far to teach that competition was evil. As already stated, free market capitalism is the ownership of the means of production. It has been a fundamental right in capitalistic America. This means of production leads to the American dream of property ownership. That dream is under attack with rights of ownership being “regulated” by more and more big government.

We now have, for example, “code enforcement” officers in cities employed to inspect your actions as a home owner, from the color you paint your house, when to mow your grass, how to trim your trees and where to place your trash cans. In my city, after a hurricane toppled a large tree it was illegal to fill the remaining hole with sand without a city permit. On those that don’t comply, large fines are imposed that offer an additional source of revenue for tax-starved cities. Government involvement in every aspect of life is increasing.

Eminent domain is another form of government meddling in the capitalistic system of private property rights. Eminent domain is the power of government to seize the private property of its citizens for “the common good” of the government. When eminent domain was challenged, the Supreme Court ruled 5-4 it was constitutional provided there was "just compensation" according to the Fifth Amendment.

This attack on and the elimination of individual property rights through the potential corruption of eminent domain and other regulations can be better understood in the premise of equal distribution of goods or the redistribution of wealth. Remember we are examining the ideology of socialism and what it will produce.

EQUAL DISTRIBUTION OF GOODS

Socialism promotes equality among each citizen. To achieve this goal they believe in the redistribution of wealth. "Own everything in common, nothing for yourself... the equality of nature... the republic of equals," said French political theorist Sylvain Marechal (1750-1803) written in Voyages of Pythagoras. Equality sounds good especially for those struggling for economic freedom. Equality without labor, however, is not biblical.

A socialist believes in a secular society void of biblical morality, biblical guidance, biblical wisdom, in short void of Christ.

To carry out this equality, a redistribution of wealth must take place through the intervention of a fascist government. In a fascist government, the elite are those that take from the wealthy (through various taxes and regulations) and give to the poor after skimming off their cut (administrative fees). Providing a helping hand to the poor, widows and orphans is certainly biblical. To do so by force, however, is not. Government cannot make the heart of man virtuous through laws as the socialist utopian revolutionary proposes.

Nothing is free. The “Declaration of Independence” offers equality of opportunity. In the Parable of the Talents, for example, Christ rebukes the man that buried his talent in the ground. Notice he doesn’t take by force from the one with 10 talents or enact legislation and give it to the man that buried his talent.

Secular thinkers have historically had a problem with the Christian concept of good and evil, or the idea of a sinful man in need of a Savior. To them, the first sins committed by Adam and Eve are nothing but a myth. They believe that inequality is inherently evil and prefer to treat a stricken society through education, legislation, and government policy.

A Swiss philosopher that influenced the French revolution—Jean-Jacques Rousseau (1712-1778)—proposed that the “damn businessman” invented the concept of private property that created a form of envy among the people. This envy according to him birthed all forms of conflict and evil in the world. To the socialist, therefore, the free market capitalist system itself is evil—and not the person. Evil, then, is the direct result of the unequal distribution of wealth.

This is outright deception to the Christian who understands the fallen nature of man that cannot save himself and looks to the sacrificed

Saboteurs in the Republic

Christ for the atonement of sin.

STATE EDUCATION OF CHILDREN

Many parents are not happy with the quality of education their children are receiving in the public school. Again, to the socialist, education is a means for building a new type of human being, the utopian man that finds salvation through intellectual enlightenment. The problem with that is—it doesn't work. As we move closer to socialism within the United States, we will see more and more government involvement and experimental social engineering of our children. The result will be lawless children—void of honorable virtues and unable to think.

A SECULAR SOCIETY

A socialist believes in a secular society void of biblical morality, biblical guidance, biblical wisdom, and in short void of Christ. Theodore Dezamy, another communist revolutionary, believed it important to abolish all kinds of elite education. By doing so, he felt that it would promote the equality and brotherhood (fraternity) of man within an atheistic society. As an atheist, he taught "equals know neither God nor the devil."

Exposing Utopia

As Christians we believe that Christ is vital to life and happiness. We believe in the Word of God. We believe:

All scripture is given by inspiration of God and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: That the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works. (2 Timothy 3:16-17)

An atheist would flatly reject that belief as foolishness and one dangerously opposed to the utopian society.

FRATERNAL NATIONALISM

The socialist likes to talk of the "brotherhood of men" that promotes a nationalism centered on the cause of equality. Today this ideology is heard in statements like "the common good, " or "it's time to sacrifice." These are code words for a socialistic nationalism used to replace the capitalistic ideology of equal opportunity among men through the division of labor.

In Christianity liberty means the freedom to do what God has called you to do within a free society. To the socialist, however, liberty means freedom from godly restraints in morality and the equality of men that are free from the evils of capitalism.

SPIRITUAL, NOT RELIGIOUS PEOPLE

Leaders during the French revolution also looked to the occult for prophetic revelation to build the utopian man within a utopian society. Pythagoras of Samos (572 BC-500 BC) was one of their intellectual icons. He was a Greek philosopher and mystic that believed the future could be predicted through mathematics. Much of his orphic beliefs were instituted within the Masonic lodges during the French revolution.

Exposing Utopia

As already said, the socialist believes in the creation of the utopian man—the enlightened being. On their path to Nirvana they may embrace spiritualism, mysticism, Kabala, New Age practices and Yoga but are strictly opposed to the God of the Bible. They don't believe in good and evil, nor do they see the need for salvation. In fact, the socialist believes man can save himself. They believe in the spiritual man but not the religious man. As Christians we believe that a religious person is one that is legalistic, self-righteous and hypocritical that has only a form of godliness. Therefore a true Christian denies the religious spirit but does have a religion, the religion of Christianity with Jesus Christ as founder and cornerstone of that religion.

cartoons for our children. As Christians we can overcome this anti-Christ spirit. We are, after all, the only danger to its ideology. To overcome this spirit and ideology, however, will require us to educate ourselves with a biblical worldview. I like what J. Stanley Oakes Jr. of Kings College wrote:

If people study the Bible solely within the confines of religion, it risks creating a spiritual ghetto where, at best, the gospel affects the heart, the home, and the family but has little to do with government, business, education, the media, the courts, or society at large.

Friends, we must do more than have good church services within the four walls of our buildings. We must break the cycle of the dumbing down of the Church that ignores the warfare of ideas within our world. It's time to stop entertaining ourselves and begin to educate ourselves. We must become a thinking people. Adolf Hitler said, "What luck for rulers that men do not think." It's time to think again and to renew our minds with the Word of God (Romans 12:2).

Exposing Utopia

Christ taught us to be salt and light in a dark world. Far too many people are ignoring what is taking place around them and others are looking to the "rapture" as an escape rather than preparing themselves to make a difference in this world. In my book Kingdom Living we discuss God's expectations of His sons and daughters and various strategies to make a difference with our lives. We can turn this around. We can possess the land.

Each believer is unique and has something particular that God has called that person to do in advancing Christian life and Kingdom culture. In short, to make a difference with their lives that brings glory to God (John 15:8). Yes, each believer is part of the universal Body of Christ; but that body is in the world. Let's get this reputation, "Those that have turned the world upside down have come here to." As a Christian you have something to say that the world needs to hear. Don't withdraw yourself from the world and the affairs of men, be that city set on a hill.

THE FIFTH COLUMN

Oftentimes people email me notes saying that we should just pray. I certainly believe in prayer; but prayer alone will not stop the battle to destroy our nation. As Christian Americans we must engage the enemy of our souls both spiritually and naturally. The truth is that our nation is in serious trouble and the battle against a demonic fifth column within our country can no longer be ignored. Daniel Webster (1782-1856) warned,

There is no nation on earth powerful enough to accomplish our overthrow. Our destruction, should it come at all, will be from another quarter. From the inattention of the people to the concerns of their government, from their carelessness and negligence. I must confess that I do apprehend some danger. I fear that they may place too implicit a confidence in their public servants and fail properly to scrutinize their conduct; that in this way they may be made the dupes of designing men and become the instruments of their own undoing.

A fifth column is a group of unknown insurgents that fight from within a nation to aid a foreign invader. That foreign invader is an old enemy of God-hating demonic hordes that despise what America stands for. They hate our God, nation and Christian culture.

The fifth column comes from a story of General Emilio Mola during the Spanish Civil War. When attacking the city of Madrid in 1936, he broadcasted a radio message declaring that his four columns of soldiers outside the city would be supported by a fifth column of fighters inside the city.

To destroy the old American Republic from the inside would require a strategy, tactical patience and the introduction of a wicked doctrine called Socialism. Socialism is a political theory based on the ownership of a nation's means of production by the government.

The fifth column wrongly believed that socialism would create a heaven on earth by ridding the people of evil capitalist's business owners and by the redistribution of wealth through a benevolent government. To bring it about, American citizens had to become more dependent on government and made to believe that government was their answer to all things. Like a drug addict they had to be hooked. Perhaps a free taste of "government benevolence" was necessary to entice the palate?

President Franklin D. Roosevelt paved the way with new economic measures enacted between 1933 and 1935. He brought in the "New Deal" offering a chicken in every pot, the good life and freedom from want and struggle. Social Security would soon be a right guaranteed by the Federal Government. This was an egregious breach of the U.S. Constitution and would be the biggest Ponzi scheme ever devised by man. And, yes, the bitter cup of hemlock tasted sweet to those just recovering from the Great Depression. What of future generations, however?

The anti-Republic fifth column had to start somewhere. Former Chicago Tribune reporter Frank Hughes wrote in Prejudice and the Press that fifth column socialism had its roots in Europe and came from the followers of Karl Marx:

There was no 'liberal' tradition in America, to amount to anything, even as late as Karl Marx's day, when it was strong in Europe.

The reason for this is simple, but has been obscured by the propaganda taught by 'liberals.' Europe, historically, has never known, and does not know today, the liberty of individual accomplishment guaranteed in America's philosophy of unalienable rights, which every citizen possesses and which government cannot infringe.

Saul Alinsky, atheist and modern socialist pioneer wrote in Rules for Radicals that few

The Fifth Column

Marxist socialists survived after the 1950s.

Few of us survived the Joe McCarthy holocaust of the early 1950's and of those there were even fewer whose understanding and insights had developed beyond the dialectical materialism of orthodox Marxism.

My fellow radicals who were supposed to pass on the torch of experience and insights to a new generation just were not there.

To the anti-American love was a Christian trait and only got in the way of New America revolutionary change.

In an effort to resurrect radical socialism and reintroduce it into America he founded the "Industrial Areas Foundation Training Institute" in Chicago commonly called the "Alinsky School" which was the training ground for many community and labor organizers. His unique brilliance as a community organizer was the ability to unite radical groups into a common cause. Alinsky is an important figure in understanding just how far reaching his socialist ideology and tactical activism was.

Hillary Clinton and Barack Obama were also influenced by him. In 1969 Hillary Rodman Clinton wrote her Wellesley College thesis as a senior, There Is Only the Fight: An Analysis of the Alinsky Model. The essay was sealed by the request of the Clinton White House. Today it can be read but not copied at the college. President Obama also knew of the teaching of Alinsky. He wrote a chapter in the book After Alinsky: Community Organizing in Illinois. His chapter was titled, "Why Organize? Problems and Promise in the Inner City."

The anti-American Marxist had to "exploit" causes that would encourage others to join. Causes like environmentalism, pollution control, crime and animal rights. It was necessary to exploit social injustices, racism and abuses of every kind. The object was to overwhelm the old American fabric, governing structures, and, especially the U.S. Constitution—by any means. Find social abuses, weaknesses, hypocrisy, and rally the troops to organize and attack. Offer evolution, for example, as an alternative to a creator God. Challenge, question, undermine wherever possible the fabric of a Christian American society. Replace its historical heroes like George Washington with Marxists like Che Guevara. Complain about the salutation "Merry Christmas" and promote "Happy Holidays." Bicker, fight, strip down, and, above all, "agitate the system."

Fifth column effectiveness needed enemies. "We must hate," said Lenin. To the anti-American, love was a Christian trait and only got in the way of New America revolutionary change. But who would the recruits be? Again, the fifth column needed haters to organize, the discontented, indebted, disillusioned and disenfranchised. They could use homosexuals, secular humanists, feminists, radical black nationalists, abortionists and voiceless minorities. All factions were welcomed to agitate the Republic. The glue that bound them together was always hate and the desire to undermine America's fundamental greatness in their efforts to gain the high places.

AMERICA AND THE ROAD TO PERDITION

To expose the radical left's agenda to create a new America, we need to look at the workings of the fifth column travelling to destroy the Republic from the inside out. The goal of the fifth column socialists is to create a new society. They would "repower and retrofit" it by organizing every God and Republic hater they could muster and give them a cause. To make them think they were part of something bigger than themselves and no longer disenfranchised. To give them a common goal while instilling feelings of "us against them," with them being the old order God-lovers, American patriots, free market capitalists, hard working family men and supporters of the U.S. Constitution.

Newspaper columnist and author of hundreds of articles and many books John T. Flynn, writing in The Decline of the American Republic and How to Rebuild It in 1955, mapped out the strategy of this dark alliance.

There is this plan to transform our own country into a socialist society. Before this can be done, however, it is necessary to wreck our economic system of private enterprise by subjecting it to stresses and strains that will enfeeble and ultimately ruin it. This would include the strait-jacket of government regulations, the enfeebling exactions of crushing taxation and the poisonous stimulus of endlessly mounting debt. Essential to all this is the purpose of transforming fundamentally our political system as defined by the Constitution which is totally unfitted for the organization and management of a socialist society.

Notice Flynn points out two major obstacles hindering a new America: private enterprise and the U.S. Constitution. He also spoke of the tactics needed to transform the Republics political system:

1. Restrictive government regulations
2. Debilitating taxation
3. Economic stimulus and
4. Massive national debt

Saboteurs in the Republic

All four of these we have today on a colossal scale.

We must come to grips with this truth; there are people that hate our Republic, U.S. Constitution, prosperity, middle-class, free enterprise system, private property ownership, history, culture and especially our God. These will stop at nothing short of the utter destruction of our country.

Christians believe the U.S. Constitution was penned by God-fearing men that used biblical principles and divine inspiration to frame the government of the Republic. They also understood that God gave everyone a particular gift, their means of production, with a mandate from heaven to multiply, produce, increase, subdue and take dominion. This is made possible only through hard work, thrift and a free market economy. When Marxists promote “socializing the means of production” through ballot or revolution, that is an anti-Christ agenda.

The lie of socialism is the elites really care about the environment, pollution, poverty, animal rights, crime, wealth equality, same sex marriages, feminism, peace and war, civil rights and social justice. The truth is that socialism is only a "means to an end." The prize is complete social and economic control of the nation. They want a wholly new society not just reforms of the old. This may come as revelation to the copper-riveted socialists that have bought into the propaganda of creating utopia. You, too, are only pawns in the grand scheme used to help the elites create a totalitarian State.

Benito Mussolini, the Italian dictator and a father of fascism, understood that all too well. He saw socialism as weak and dying and fascism, with the government controlling the nation's means of production, as the final destination.

Saboteurs in the Republic

Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr., special assistant and court historian to President John F. Kennedy, confirmed the goal of unrestricted power by government. Writing in the Partisan Review in May-June 1947 to a conference on "The Future of Socialism," he defined socialism as "ownership by the state of all significant means of production." He went on to express how it could be accomplished:

Its gradual advance might well preserve order and law, keep enough internal checks and discontinuities to guarantee a "measure" of freedom, and "evolve new" and real forms for the expression of democracy. The active agents in effecting the transition will probably be, not the working class, but some combination of lawyers, business and labor managers, politicians and intellectuals, in the manner of the first New Deal, or of the labor government in Britain.

To the so-called enlightened masters of the universe the people are only votes. Votes needed to help them "win the contest." To the elites the ballot is only a ruse to make the pilloried shills feel they are participating in the process of governing. The fifth column recruited writers, school professors, celebrities, journalists, corrupt politicians and those progressive thinkers "not bound by the restrains of religion." All available God-haters were drafted in the war against the Republic and employed to soften Americans' instinctive opposition to totalitarianism. As already said, a new order—their order—would re-power and retrofit society. The enlightened political adventurers would lead the way, map out the new society and rally the demonic hosts.

These saboteurs would fan out across the old America and attack its foundations, moral fabric, belief systems, schools, universities, and God. Just look at a few issues they have managed to divide our nation:

- school prayer,
- the Ten Commandments,
- religious symbols on public property,
- separation of Church and State,

Saboteurs in the Republic

- evolution,
- the death penalty,
- abortion,
- homosexuality,
- marriage,
- assisted suicide,
- holiday greetings
- and the like.

These outlaws were the “community organizers,” leftists’ radicals and hate group pioneers of every sort.

As enlightened ones, they could plot the course of a new America free from the ancient boundaries of right and wrong. It was gray that was needed to advance their cause not the clarity of black and white, true or false. Known truths only got in the way, especially stupefying biblical truths and U.S. Constitutional restraints. These too had to be brought into question. Like the serpent of old, all they needed to do was ask, “Did God truly say?”

The Fifth Column

Karl Marx, the apostle of socialism with his friend Friedrich Engels went even further. Together they outlined in clear detail the socialist agenda in the Communist Manifesto. This infamous essay painted their revolutionary plan. They called for:

1. Abolition of private property
2. Abolition of inheritance
3. Confiscation of the property of immigrants and rebels
4. State ownership and operation of transportation and communications
5. A heavy graduated income tax
6. A gradual extension of the transfer of the instruments of production to the hands of the State

America has gone a long way down this road to perdition with most of Marx and Engels' agenda complete. Yet there is one problem these usurpers of liberty overlooked: that's the God of America. His name is Jesus Christ, the King of kings and the

Saboteurs in the Republic

Lord of lords. Thomas Paine, one of the Republic's founding fathers said:

The cause of America is in a great measure the cause of all mankind. Where, some say, is the king of America? I'll tell you, friend, He reigns above.

Just like Gideon of old that encountered the angel of the Lord so we too have awakened to the evil deeds of spiritual forces plotting against our nation.

Like thousands of others, I hear the sound of the patriots drum and a voice saying, "Arise thou mighty men of valor." And arise they have, patriots of the Republic with drawn swords of the Spirit of Liberty ready to take back their nation. We are "One Nation, under God, with Liberty and Justice for All."

DESTRUCTION BY NATIONAL DEBT

The United States borrows over 40 percent of every dollar it spends. We now have a whopping $11.8 trillion debt and we are on a course to double that in the next 10 years. Once the most prosperous nation in the world, we have become one of the most enslaved. Scripture says, “The rich ruleth over the poor and the borrower is servant to the lender” (Proverbs 22:7). Profaned leaders, worshipping the god of Mammon, have enslaved us through non-Constitutional entitlement programs, wars, waste, bankster fraud, political corruption, and debt. James Madison, architect of the U. S. Constitution, wrote:

Saboteurs in the Republic

History records that the money changers have used every form of abuse, intrigue, deceit, and violent means possible to maintain their control over governments by controlling the money and its issuance.

The anti-American revolutionary

American system

massive taxation and crushing debt.

Surely we are experiencing the fruits of demonic collusion between corrupted politicians and bankers.

A welfare economy is a slave economy. Debt is the slave's chains whether they bind the individual or the nation. The anti-American revolutionary knows the capitalist American system cannot endure massive taxation and crushing debt. Sooner or later the system will collapse. It appears we are dangerously facing our day of reckoning.

Lenin understood the goal of destroying the capitalists through taxation and inflation. He said:

Destruction by National Debt

The way to crush the bourgeoisie (property owners) is to grind them between the millstones of taxation and inflation.

Think of it. We now have a Federal Government that has the largest military in the world, an unlimited ability to tax its citizens, unlimited ability to borrow, unlimited ability to spend and unlimited ability to create monolithic debt. Where is the financial accountability to the taxpayers? Why the rush to unprecedented national debt? Why the utter disregard to stop the pillaging?

In a report by Wegelin & Co, the oldest Swiss private investment bank founded in 1741, they advised their clients to say farewell to American investments because of crushing debt. As evidenced by the following, they believe Americans economic future is bleak. Outside of national repentance and a turn toward Christ, I agree.

A glance at the USA's debt situation suffices to show that apart from oil, there is really only one element of strategic importance that the USA will need in the coming years:

Saboteurs in the Republic

capital. The (declared) public debt, national, state and community, amounted to some 70 percent of GDP in 2008. With the absorption of further debt in the wake of the financial crisis, by 2014 the level of explicit debt is likely to be significantly above 100 percent of GDP. By then the interest will have doubled from around 10 percent of total public revenue to around 20 percent, on moderate assumptions.

The bottom line is that debt will crush the Republic which evidently is the desired outcome by factions within our country.

This is generally well known. What is generally less well known is that in the USA too, as in so many ailing European states, this explicit perspective reveals less than half the truth about what has been implicitly promised by the State in the way of further benefits. Correctly accounted, that is, as probable future payment flows discounted to present values, the picture would look a good deal bleaker. There are studies, such as the one by the Frankfurt Institute in November 2008, that reckon with a total level of debt for the USA of up to 600 percent (!) of GDP.

La Rochefoucauld, famous French writer of maxims said, "It is a great cleverness to know how to conceal one's cleverness." At the time of the above letter, Larry Summers, President Barack Hussein Obama's chief economic advisor declared the recession over and the nation in recovery in September 2009. Not everyone agreed with his besotted illusion. Nobel Prize winner Joseph Stiglitz and proponent of the odious Keynesian' economics said the U. S. banking system is less safe today than in 2007.

In the U. S. and many other countries, the too-big-to-fail banks have become even bigger. The problems are worse than they were in 2007 before the crisis.

The bottom line is that debt will crush the Republic which evidently is the desired outcome by factions within our country.

Again, when a government has the power to tax without limit, borrow without limit, spend without limit and acquire debt without limit, it's just a matter of time until that nation collapses. No nation throughout history has ever been able to borrow and spend its way into prosperity. America is no different. The day of reckoning is approaching. Economic collapse, the utter destruction of the Republic must be the desired outcome. If this be so, then what we have is not deceptive acts of sabotage by unknown shadowy figures but sedition and treason by factions within our nation.

Lasting alterations to the old American Republic have modified the character of our nation. Some of our little rulers in Washington D.C. have partnered in the corruption and ignored the ever increasing debt burden put off on the American people. Currently there is no talk of rolling back the size of government. There are meetings only to explore every possible creative way to increase taxes, fines and fees. I am reminded of the hearings by the Senate Finance Committee to tax soda pop, the State of Massachusetts' dog tax, and Oregon's proposed mileage tax.

As already said the collectivist revolutionary understands that a socialist state requires a powerful central government. This explains the dazzling push for government-run health care, government-funded corporate bailouts, and "cap and trade" (energy) taxation and regulation authority. The U.S. Constitution does not provide the Federal Government with this much power. In todays political climate, however, few politicians care about the U.S. Constitution.

A NATION UNDER SIEGE

For the left-wing radical, deceit, political double-talk, and to lie is part and parcel to gaining the commanding heights and creating a new America. To lie, however, is still sinful. Christ said of the devil, he is a liar and the father of them.

Today our Republic is under siege by those of a different spirit. They are lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy, without natural affection, trucebreakers, false accusers, incontinent, fierce, despisers of those that are good, traitors, heady, high-minded, and lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God and “the truth is not in them.” They stand against everything you and I have come to love about our nation. These, knowing the judgment of God, that they which commit such things are worthy of death, not only do the same, but have pleasure in them that do them. (Romans 1:32)

We have been lied to by corrupt politicians, socialists, too big to fail bankers, Wall Street fat-cats and others that hate our country, culture, U.S. Constitution, liberty, free market capitalism, family, and, most of all, our God. These lying supplanters desire a new America, one of their own making and will stop at nothing until the America framed by our Founding Fathers is completely destroyed.

“We must be ready to employ trickery, deceit, law-breaking, withholding and concealing truth,” said Vladimir Lenin. To destroy the Republic requires tactical deceit. To the collectivists known truths must be distorted, redefined. Confuse, confound and overwhelm. Aggravate the system.

A Nation Under Siege

No, aggravate everything. Infiltrate respected organizations by serving your way in. Avoid controversy at the first, later create it, blend in and when the time comes seize the seats of leadership, means of production and governing authority. To gain the high places tell people what they want to hear. Lie, yes, and lie profoundly when necessary. When caught deny and lie again. After all, truthfulness is irrelevant and fundamentally a Christian trait but not for the anti-Republic Marxist. Hold the Christian and patriot alike to his word, pin him to his faults but never the Philistine radical. Just like Marxist, hold the Christians' God in contempt.

Even that dreaded Italian butcher of liberty, Benito Mussolini, considered God the creation of empty headed theologians and "religion a species of mental disease." Further, consider not your accuser's facts. When confronting truth with error, simply smile. Americans, after all, are easily deceived by smiling faces and have forgotten Shakespeare that remarked "one may smile, and smile, and still be a villain." Remember too, the more charismatic the deceiver the sharper his sword.

Here are a few famous lies that many Americans will remember.

- “The world will note that the first atomic bomb was dropped on Hiroshima, a military base. That was because we wished in this first attack to avoid, insofar as possible, the killing of civilians.”—President Harry S. Truman August 9th, 1945.
- “I am not a crook.”—President Richard Nixon, November 17th, 1973, after involvement in wiretapping political opponents in the Watergate Scandal.
- “Read my lips, no new taxes.”—Presidential nominee George H. W. Bush at the 1988 Republican National Convention acceptance speech.
- “I did not have sexual relations with that woman Miss Lewinsky.”—President Bill Clinton. Monica Lewinsky was a White

A Nation Under Siege

House intern that had an alleged nine sexual encounters with Clinton in 1995, 1996 and 1997.

- "After paying the bills, my plan reduces the national debt, and fast. So fast, in fact, that economist's worry that we're going to run out of debt to retire."—President George Bush, February 2001.
- "Reagan proved deficits don't matter."—Republican Vice President Dick Cheney in 2002.
- "To address the perception that some institutions are too big to fail, we must improve the tools at our disposal for facilitating the orderly failure of a large, complex financial institution."—Henry M. Paulson Jr., former Goldman Sachs' top executive and U.S. Treasury Secretary in the Bush administration, in a speech in London July 2008.

By November taxpayers were forced to bailout too-big-to-fail AIG, Fannie Mae,

Saboteurs in the Republic

Freddie Mac and America's largest banks to the tune of $787 billion. At the writing of this essay the bailouts continue in the Obama administration.

- Chairman Ben S. Bernanke speech to the 2007 International Monetary Conference, Cape Town, South Africa, June 5th, “The troubles in the subprime sector seem unlikely to seriously spill over to the broader economy or the financial system.”
- “The fundamentals of the economy are strong.”—Republican Presidential candidate John McCain, September 2008.

Hours later Lehman Brothers filed for bankruptcy with $613 billion in debts. The largest corporate failure in history.

- “The thing that bewilders me is this president just cut taxes for 95 percent of the American people.”—Presidential advisor David Axelrod said of President Obama September 2009.

These may explain the lack of trust with

A Nation Under Siege

Americas political leadership on both sides of the Congressional isle. The point is, like Edmund Burke said, “The people never give up their liberties but under some delusion.” And I might add, delusion accompanied by profound lies.

TACTICAL ACTIVISM

The U.S. Constitution, a government with division of powers, the Church, State sovereignty, city governments, and American traditions held sacred and passed down through generations from the Founding Fathers has been “systematically eroded.” Part of the erosion was empowered through the tactical efforts of secular humanists to kick God out of the nation.

When a nation is no longer led by godly principles, it doesn’t matter what form of government exists. For even then the best government ever framed by man—the U.S.—is in danger. John Adams, second President of the United States, confirmed this premise:

Our Constitution was made only for a moral and religious people. It is wholly inadequate to the government of any other.

Saboteurs in the Republic

Scripture affirms his statement:

When the righteous are in authority the people rejoice but when the wicked beareth rule the people mourn. (Proverbs 29:2)

To shred the fabric of our Republic has been possible by radical left-wing “tactical activism” and redefining the threads that weave us together by spotlighting our faults and failures. Their strategy has been to rewrite historical biographies, add to their message, detract when necessary and yes, lie profoundly. Ruling the commanding heights has always been the goal. Gain them, neutralize Christ’s importance in governing the affairs of men—the definition of politics—and create a new America with a different set of values and rules.

Progressive attorney, Randy Shaw, wrote of tactical activism in The Activist’s Handbook. In the following he lays out the left-wing’s activist focus:

A Nation Under Siege

Activists should expend their energy primarily on implementation, “responding to the opposition’s campaign solely within the framework of furthering their own programs.”

Rather than simply oppose the right-wing agenda, activists must advance and “frame issues” that unify people around objection to “social and economic unfairness” rather than hostility toward others.

Adopting a “fear and loathing” approach toward elected officials, particularly self-identified progressives, is essential for achieving social change. Social change activists should also consider “litigation for its deterrent effects.” A lawsuit can help activists achieve their goals even if the suit itself is ultimately lost.

As you can read, “social change” is the objective. No one defines radical left-wing activism better than Saul Alinsky the father of modern socialism. He defined the path to the commanding heights in Rules for Radicals: A Practical Primer for Realistic Radicals. Discovering the tactical approach to creating a new America will require you to understand Alinsky's theology of activism because he is the apostle of the modern left-wing radical. He writes,

A Marxist begins with his prime truth that all evils are caused by the exploitation of the proletariat (working class) by the capitalists.

From this he logically proceeds to the revolution to end capitalism, then into the third stage of reorganization into a new social order of the dictatorship of the proletariat (working class), and finally the last stage—the political paradise of communism.

Notice the radical left-wing's agenda:

1. End capitalism
2. Reorganize into a new social order under a dictatorship over the working man
3. Progress into full blown communism

Our God is not a communist. He put within each a “particular gift.” That gift is your “means of production.” With that gift, you can chart a course toward personal prosperity and fulfill the first commission to “be fruitful, and multiply, and produce, and subdue and have dominion” (Genesis 1:28).

THE REFORMER'S SPIRIT

Thomas Jefferson writing to Colonel Smith about civil disturbances in Massachusetts said:

What country can preserve its liberties if its rulers are not warned from time to time that this people preserve the spirit of resistance?

"Resistance," the word seems so foreign today. Yet resistance to tyranny and despotism was foundational in the birthing of the Republic. The founders of our nation believed in the God of perfect liberty. When the spirit of bondage slithered into the Colonies, something rose in the hearts of the people. That something was the reformer's spirit.

Many admire Christ's reformers after they are dead. To my mind this generation has forgotten what it's like to take a bold stand for Christ amid a morally and politically corrupt world. Even the pulpit is lukewarm refusing to address depravity in the land and rather preaches a watered-down gospel that tickles the sinner's ear and makes him comfortable in apathetic equanimity. It's clear the indifferent are committed to nothing in particular, not even the cause of Christ. When was the last time you heard the pulpit coming against sin, homosexuality, sexual bacchanalia or Washington D.C. corruption? It appears our preachers have fallen under the spell of celebrity Christianity that makes eunuchs out of Christ's flames of fire. Hollywood Christianity might get you on television but celebrity Christianity will not turn the world upside down for Christ. What we need today is the reformer's spirit.

Like many of you, I am a Spirit-filled Christian and descendant of the Protestant faith. Our Protestant faith has its roots in the Protestant

The Reformer's Spirit

Reformation. History says this reformation began when Martin Luther nailed his Ninety-Five Theses in 1517 on the doors of the Wittenberg church protesting Catholic false doctrines and indulgences.

Luther was the first of many reformers that included John Wycliffe, Jan Hus, John Calvin, John Knox, William Tyndale, Zwingli, George Fox and many others. Today these men are highly respected and their names well known. They have two things in common:

1. They were all militant Protestant reformers
2. and they are all now dead.

As already said, people admire Christ's reformers after they are dead but it was their "Protestant spirit" that changed the world making it a better place for you and I. That same spirit, the reformer's spirit, needs rekindling today.

Martin Luther reminds us what a reformer's spirit is like.

If I profess with the loudest voice and clearest exposition every portion of the truth of God except precisely that little point which the world and the devil are at that moment attacking, I am not confessing Christ however boldly I may be professing Christ.

Saboteurs in the Republic

The bottom line according to Luther,

Where the battle rages there the loyalty of the soldier is proved; and to be steady on all the battlefields besides is mere flight and disgrace if he flinches at that point.

Unlike some modern leaders, Luther refused to keep silent on the great venues of his day, even if his opposition imperiled his life. In Luther's words, "Where the battle rages there the loyalty of the soldier is proved." Where is the loyal warrior's battle today? I say it's in the heart of those remnant patriots that hear God's voice and are ready for action.

Like Luther, reformers carry a different spirit. That spirit challenges the wickedness of the day. It never shrinks back but ever so boldly confronts the heart of man without discrimination or favoritism. It's not unequally yoked with a political party, an ethnic group or populist fads. A new generation of Protestant reformers are readying for spiritual battle. Lyman Beecher, leader of the Second Great Awakening understood the reformer's mandate. He said,

I was made for action. The Lord drove me, but I was ready. I have always been going at full speed... From the beginning my mind has taken in the Church of God, my country, and the world given to Christ. It is this that has widened the scope of my activities beyond the common sphere of pastoral labor.

Christ's spiritual reformers understand their call as ambassadors to this world, not heaven. Like Beecher they have awakened to Church, country and world, all belonging to the lordship of Christ. They are governing disciples, "Strong in the Lord and the power of His might." To these Protestants, Christ is King of kings and Lord of lords, and the battlefield of life only waits to confirm His supremacy.

AUTHORIZED TO PREACH

Reformers fathom Christ's instruction to His disciples. "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature" (Mark 16:15). "Preach" is the Greek word kerux. To grasp the word is fundamental in understanding the reformer's spirit and your purpose in this world as part of Christ's royal priesthood of kings (1 Peter 2:9).

Kerux is a governing term coined by the ancient Greeks. The Emperor, for example, would dispatch his Imperial Kerux to cities he was about to invade. Homer writes in The Iliad of Talthybius as kerux of the political will of King Agamemnon in the Trojan War.

"Where the battle rages there the loyalty of the soldier is proved.
"—*Martin Luther

Through the kerux a king would announce his expectation of the people. He would also introduce the laws and culture of his kingdom to the newly conquered city.

The Reformer's Spirit

A kerux was also known as a herald, a teacher, an evangelist, one authorized to call and conduct a general assembly, and was the king's most trusted spokesman. So trusted was the kerux he was the only one allowed to mix and pour wine for the king. Nehemiah was the kerux of the Persian King Artaxerxes.

Nehemiah's physiognomy awakened after hearing of great affliction of the remnant in Jerusalem surrounded by fallen walls and gates burned with fire. Like an apostle Nehemiah was sent by King Artaxerxes with letters of authorization, captains of the Persian army, and a military escort (Nehemiah 2:9).

The bottom line is, all followers of Christ are called to act as a kerux for Christ. For a disciple to ignore the political and immoral issues of the day would be a direct violation of the Word of God. The apostle Paul made it clear. He wrote,

*I am ordained a preacher and an apostle....
(1 Timothy 2:7)*

You too, are called to carry the reformer's

Saboteurs in the Republic

spirit. Like Caleb and Joshua, with shoulder squared and raised chin, carry that reforming spirit proudly. These were examples to us of those that knew their God and said, “Let us go up at once and possess it for we are well able to overcome it” (Numbers 13:30). Luther said, “Where the battle rages there the loyalty of the soldier is proved.”

LIBERTY OR TYRANNY

To the Christian we are reminded of Scripture that declares,

Christ must reign till he hath put all enemies under his feet...., And when all things shall be subdued unto him, then shall the Son also himself be subject unto him that put all things under him that God may be all in all. (1 Corinthians 15:25-28)

The enemy is not, as the socialists suggest, property owners or free-market capitalism. Nor is the enemy a particular political party whether Democrat or Republican. Yes, there is corruption in corporations and both political parties. The real enemy of man, however, is not free-market capitalism but wickedness residing in the heart of man. This is why there can be no peace without changed hearts and the only way to change hearts is through the redemptive blood of the Lord Jesus Christ.

The Apostle Paul taught,

*For we wrestle not against flesh and blood but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places.
(Ephesians 4:12)*

There is a great war raging over our nation to determine its leadership toward liberty or tyranny. The Republics' enemies are surely all around and the war to create a new America is well under way.

As Christians we get an idea of that warfare when reading the first few pages of Saul Alinsky's book. As already said, Alinsky was the apostle of the modern Marxist socialists. In his book he writes of the very first radical as an example worth following to his fellow social engineers.

Lest we forget at least an over-the-shoulder acknowledgment to the very first radical: from all our legends, mythology, and history (and who is to know where mythology leaves off and history begins—or which is which), the first radical known to man who rebelled against the establishment and did it so effectively that he at least won his own kingdom—Lucifer.

Only one with a reprobate mind would admire the work of Satan. What Alinsky the atheist failed to understand was Christ:

... spoiled principalities and powers, (Satan too) he made a show of them openly, triumphing over them. (Colossians 2:15)

The Christian must follow their Lord's example by building the Church, establishing and advancing the Gospel of the Kingdom (including the priesthood and kingship of every believer) and equipping and empowering every disciple of Christ to do what He has called them to do. The gospel offers biblical order and stability, individual and national purpose, morality, true freedom and, most importantly, direction in righteousness to a corrupted world influenced by the corrupted one himself, Satan.

Replacing evil rulers with other evil rulers will not accomplish the task of building a utopian society. Nor can a society of peace be built outside the guidance of Christ, the Prince of Peace. Therein lays the problem for all progressive socialists. Max Eastman, a well known writer and devout socialist turned conservative studied at the Marx-Engels Institute in Moscow. He wrote that atheists dreamed falsely of creating heaven on earth through socialism. In his book Reflections on the Failure of Socialism he writes,

It was natural that idealistic people who had ceased to believe in heaven should think up some bright hope for humanity on earth.

The left-wing progressive socialist—no matter the flavor, Marxist or Fabian (national socialism through ballot)—must understand that he too is but a pawn in the hands of those so-called elites that use him or her to advance their own selfish ambition to be "masters of men" like Pharaoh the hated despot of old.

Saboteurs in the Republic

TOWARD FREEDOM

There are many kinds of war. There are civil, religious, class and the highest of all, spiritual. As we take a moment to pull back the curtain, we understand the true warfare is the battle against God fueled by the hatred of Satan. Scripture reveals his wicked heart.

How art thou fallen from heaven, O Lucifer, son of the morning! How art thou cut down to the ground, which didst weaken the nations! For thou has said in thine heart, I will ascend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the stars of God: I will sit also upon the mount of the congregation, in the sides of the north: I will ascend above the heights of the clouds; I will be like the most High. (Isaiah 14:12-14)

Saboteurs in the Republic

It is interesting that Lucifer wants to "be like the most High." Reality is the war for dominion is still raging in the heavens and playing out on the earth. Its the men on earth that are choosing sides, some to evil and others to righteousness. "The heart is deceitful above all things and desperately wicked; who can know it" (Jeremiah 17:9). According to St. Augustine, the sinfulness of man makes him:

... devoid of rational will.... For not even lions or dragons have ever waged with their kind such wars as men have waged with one another.

Pastor Samuel Miller rises to the measure of spiritual reformer. He preached in New York City, July 4th, 1793 on the "Independence of America." His opening text was:

And where the Spirit of the Lord is there is Liberty. (2 Corinthians 3:17)

Let us bless his holy name that under the influence of this light we have been led to assert the dignity of human nature, to throw off the chains of oppression, to think and act for ourselves and to acknowledge no other king than the King of the universe.

Let us bless his name, that, under the guidance of the same light, we have been led to frame a constitution, which recognizes the natural unalienable rights of men; which renounces all limits to human liberty.

Do you wish to stand fast in that liberty wherewith the Governor of the universe hath made you free? Do you desire the increasing prosperity of your country? Do you wish to see the law respected, good order preserved, and universal peace to prevail? Are you convinced that purity of morals is necessary for these important purposes? Do you believe that the Christian religion is the firmest basis of morality?

And while you tell to your children and to your children's children, the wonderful works of the Lord, and the great deliverance which he hath wrought for us, teach them to remember the Author of thee blessings and they will know how to estimate their value. Teach them to acknowledge the God of heaven as their King and they will despise submission to earthy despots. Teach them to be Christians and they will ever be free!

Without Christ none can be free; and without His overcoming word the chains of tyranny cannot be broken. Christ is our source and we should never look to men as the staff of our hope. French historian Alexis de Tocqueville discovered the greatness of America.

In the end, the state of the Union comes down to the character of the people....

I sought for the greatness and genius of America in her commodious harbors, her ample rivers, and it was not there. I sought for it in the fertile fields, and boundless prairies, and it was not there. I sought it in her rich mines, and vast world commerce, and it was not there. Not until I went into the churches of America and heard her pulpits aflame with righteousness did I understand the secret of her genius and power.

The greatness Tocqueville discovered has its source in the greatest reformer of all time, Jesus,

Toward Freedom

King of kings and Lord of lords. As already said, Christ has called all his disciples to carry a reforming spirit.

The war for dominion is still raging in the heavens and playing out on the earth.

I am reminded of the testimony of Peter and John that met the lame beggar at the Gate Beautiful. Peter said, "Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I thee: In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth rise up and walk" (Acts 3:6). You cannot give someone something you don't have yourself. The responsibility of freedom sits squarely on the pulpits of America. If we are going to hear freedom bells equipping the saints for liberty from despots, those sounds must start within our churches. Charles Finney, the great "New Measures Revivalist" during the Second Great Awakening, spoke of the responsibility of our preachers:

Brethren, our preaching will bear its legitimate fruits. If immorality prevails in the land, the fault is ours in a great degree.

Saboteurs in the Republic

If there is a decay of conscience, the pulpit is responsible for it. If the public press lacks moral discrimination, the pulpit is responsible for it. If the church is degenerate and worldly, the pulpit is responsible for it. If the world loses its interest in religion, the pulpit is responsible for it. If Satan rules in our halls of legislation, the pulpit is responsible for it.

If our politics become so corrupt that the very foundations of our government are ready to fall away, the pulpit is responsible for it. Let us not ignore this fact, my dear brethren; but let us lay it to heart, and be thoroughly awake to our responsibility in respect to the morals of this nation.

The apostolic restoration of the Church of Christ is awakening to the responsibility of equipping and empowering every believer to join the battle. It bears repeating, Scripture declares that Christ must reign until all enemies are put under His feet.

If we are to fight off the battle for a new America we must know the truth. Jesus said, "I am the way, the truth and the life." We must see clearly and understand the true enemy is found within the evil hearts of men not in free-market capitalism or class warfare. Yes, the battle is raging, but the awakening has begun. It's time to blow the trumpet in Zion and wake up the mighty men. Our redemption draweth nigh. The good news is this:

Of the increase of His government and peace there shall be no end, upon the throne of David, and upon his kingdom, to order it, and to establish it with judgment and with justice from henceforth even forever. The zeal of the Lord of Hosts will perform this. (Isaiah 9:7)

Just as in the days of Pharaoh God has heard the cries of His people by reason of their taskmasters and has come down to deliver them. I am convinced the Spirit of Liberty is on the way.

INVITATION TO DESTINY

Are you hungry for more of God? In addition to preaching the Gospel around the world, we also pastor a powerful, Spirit-filled church in South Florida. The Spirit of God told us to build a church from which to send forth believers that could reach their cities and impact the nations for Jesus Christ.

Have you been searching for God only to find religion? Spirit of Life Ministries (SOLM) is a multicultural church where all races gather together in unity and cares for the needs of the whole family. Is something missing from your life? SOLM is a church where you can receive what you need from the Lord. We believe in divine healing, manifesting the gifts of the Spirit, prayer results, miracles, prosperity, finding purpose and making a difference. With God all things are possible.

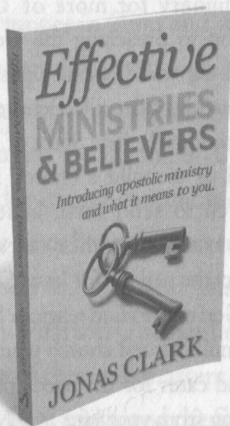

Are you looking for a place to grow? SOLM is a non-denominational church with all five-fold ministry gifts operating. We have a prophetic-apostolic call and mandate to equip, activate and release every believer into the work of the ministry according to Ephesians 4:11-12. We invite you to come and connect with your destiny and receive confirmation, impartation and activation for your life.

Effective Ministries & Believers

ISBN 978-1-886885-25-7

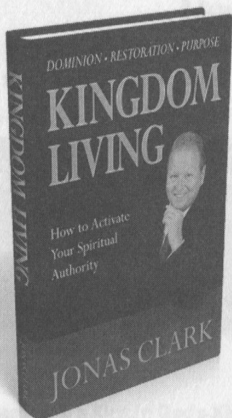

Christ's disciples have fought raging spiritual battles with Satan for centuries. Some failed, others experienced limited success, but there is another group, effective believers that discovered the secret to victorious living. This group was taught by apostles that Christ would "build his church and the gates of hell would not prevail against it."

Merry Christmas Brian Burke,

Becoming a King in God's Kingdom

By Jonas Clark

Kingship is acting on your spiritual authority to invade, occupy and influence the world around you. It is fulfilling the first great commission to "multiply, produce, increase, subdue and take dominion." Today, however, it seems everyone wants to be a prophet and no one a king. What good is a low-level prophetic word while the wicked continue to rule over God's people?

Anything dealing with prophetic ministry is hot. I have a pocket-sized book out entitled "Entering Prophetic Ministry" that people are ordering like hot cakes. In this book I write about how to enter prophetic ministry. It seems everyone wants to be a prophet. The danger

Battling Spiritual Wickedness in High Places

Today our Republic is under siege by those of a different spirit. We have been lied to by corrupt politicians, socialists, too big to fail bankers, Wall Street fat-cats and others that hate our country, culture, U. S. Constitution, liberty, free market capitalism, family, and, most of all, our God. These lying supplanters desire a new America, one of their own making and will stop at nothing until the America framed by our Founding Fathers is completely destroyed.

"I hear the sound of the patriots drum and a voice saying, 'Arise thou mighty men of valor.' And arise they have, patriots of the Republic with drawn swords of the Spirit of Liberty ready to take back their nation. We are 'One Nation, under God, with Liberty and Justice for All.'" — JONAS CLARK
